
NETFLIX DATA ANALYSIS

From Data Cleaning to Advanced Insights

Petra Dudas and Flaminia Neda

INTRODUCTION

- Netflix is one of the world's leading streaming platforms, offering a wide variety of movies and TV shows across different genres and countries.
- In this project, we analyze a Netflix dataset to uncover patterns in content distribution, genres, and trends over time.

DATA OVERVIEW

The dataset contains information about Netflix titles, including:

- Title type (Movie or TV Show)
- Country of production
- Release year
- Genre classification
- Duration

DATA CLEANING PROCESS

Before analyzing the data, several cleaning steps were required:

- Splitting duration into numeric and categorical values
- Handling missing values
- Separating multiple countries into individual entries
- Removing duplicates

TOP PRODUCING COUNTRIES

The United States clearly dominates Netflix content production, followed by India and the United Kingdom. This highlights the strong influence of these countries in the global streaming market.

MOST POPULAR GENRES

International Movies are the most common genre on Netflix, followed by Drama and Comedy. This suggests a strong focus on globally diverse content.

GROWTH OF NETFLIX OVER TIME

The regression reveals a strong growth pattern, which forms the basis for the future predictions shown next.

FUTURE PREDICTION

Year Predicted Titles
2022	383
2023	390
2024	397
2025	404

CONTENT BY AGE GROUP

Most Netflix content is targeted toward adults and teenagers, while significantly less content is designed specifically for children. This reflects Netflix's primary audience focus.

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN RELEASE YEAR AND DURATION

CONCLUSION

- The analysis highlights key patterns in Netflix's content strategy, including the dominance of certain countries, the popularity of specific genres, and the platform's rapid growth in recent years.
- While Netflix continues to expand its content library, core characteristics such as movie duration remain consistent, reflecting stable industry standards.
- Overall, the findings demonstrate how data analysis can be used to uncover meaningful insights and support content-related decision-making.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Netflix content is heavily concentrated in a few major production countries
- The platform primarily targets adult and teenage audiences
- Content diversity is reflected in the popularity of international movies
- Data-driven approaches can support recommendation systems and strategic decisions
